EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Since its inception, El Camino College (ECC) has served as a vital part of the South Bay community. Reflecting the demographics of the communities it serves today, 60% of ECC's student enrollment have been identified as belonging to groups historically marginalized in higher education. Combined, 57% are Latino and African-Americans. With Latinos representing the largest ethnic group on campus, comprising an average 43% of the student population, ECC is proud to be a designated Hispanic-Serving Institution (HSI). The college community service area also faces many challenges, particularly those generated by the COVID-19 pandemic. Thus more than ever, ECC faculty, classified professionals, and administrators are committed to the values that drive the College's mission "to make a difference in people's lives through innovative and excellent comprehensive educational programs and services that promote student learning, equity, and success in collaboration with our diverse communities." ECC's mission and vision establishes it as a "college of equity and innovation by transforming, strengthening, and inspiring our community to excel through learning." To ensure that El Camino College's vision and mission hold fast, it has established a social and moral imperative to address existing educational, racial and ethnic, and socio-economic inequities in its student community.

Effective equity planning at ECC not only considers how the College designs its programs and services to support equitable outcomes, but also focuses using funds to implement activities and practices that work towards eliminating existing equity gaps. The aim is to provide a direction towards achieving equity in an innovative, research-based, and measurable ways. Drawing from past shortcomings at ECC, the college has sought to bridge the principles of the Vision for Success and Guided Pathways. Also consulted have been student services, programs, divisions, and campus faculty, classified professionals, and administrators to create an equitable learning environment not only for those student groups historically minoritized, but for all students enrolled at the College.

Over the past four years, El Camino College has centered its equity efforts in the following areas with a wide range of activities:

- Faculty professional development providing a broad scope of equity and anti-racism training opportunities
- Guided Pathways initiatives that are designed with and integrate racial equity
- Equity-minded teaching practices
- Eliminating barriers for students created by the COVID-19 Pandemic

While ECC's equity efforts in the last four years sought to ensure that student success is not predicted by race, it recognizes that in the California Community College system (CCC), in institutions of higher education across the state, and in institutions of higher education across the nation equity gaps identified by disaggregated data are not race-neutral. ECC is no exception to this as it continues to address race-specific equity gaps. Much work still needs to be done as a 2021 student Campus Climate Survey demonstrates. 46% of Black/African American student respondents "indicated being aware of discrimination or harassment at El Camino . . . despite being in a mostly remote environment during Spring 2021." Given what disaggregated data has revealed about student equity, race must continue to be an integral part of equity dialog and action if equitable educational outcomes are to be truly achieved. Consequently, ECC's equity work and the focus of its 2022-2025 equity plan, driven through the quantitative and qualitative analysis identifying racially marginalized student groups, is intentional in creating strategies, supporting programs, and promoting professional development that address any vestiges of institutional racism while seeking to eliminate existing racial equity gaps.

EQUITY PLAN CONSTRUCTION

State Legislation and Equity Initiatives

Although the work of equity is not foreign to ECC, recent state-wide initiatives has provided it with the direction needed to more effectively solidify its historical work on addressing racial disparity in student success. In 2017, the California Community Colleges Board of Governors adopted the Vision for Success by making clear goals that needed to be fulfilled for the improvement and commitment of community college student success.

Vision for Success Goals

- Increase by at least 20 percent the number of California Community College students annually who acquire associate degrees, credentials, certificates, or specific skill sets that prepare them for an in-demand job.
- Increase by 35 percent the number of California Community College students transferring annually to a UC or CSU.
- Decrease the average number of units accumulated by California Community College students earning associate degrees
- Increase the percent of exiting CTE students who report being employed in their field of study.
- Reduce equity gaps across all of the above measures through faster improvements among traditionally underrepresented student groups.
- Reduce regional achievement gaps across all of the above measures through faster improvements among colleges located in regions with the lowest educational attainment of adults.

The 2021 update to the Vision for Success emphasizes that, “From the beginning, the Vision for Success has always been about equity . . . [and] . . . its overarching goal (Goal 5) is to reduce equity gaps across all measures by 40 percent within 5 years and to fully close those gaps within 10 years. The California Community Colleges Chancellor’s Office has identified Guided Pathways as the model that can best achieve the goals set forth by the Vision for Success. It is a model that “engages college administration, faculty, and staff to enact comprehensive changes across an entire college.” At the core of Guided Pathways is student equity. Guided Pathways has four pillars to make its objectives and the Vision for Success a reality.

Guided Pathways – Four Pillars

- Clarifying the path for students: All courses are designed as part of a coherent pathway with a clear outcome, either transfer or a career outcome. Students understand what a given path will require of them, how the courses in a pathway are connected into a logical sequence that will prepare them for their end goal, what milestones they will meet along the way, and what outcomes they can expect at the end of the path.
- Helping students get on their path: Students explore career and/or transfer options before they begin college and extensively in their first year. Multiple measures are used to assess student academic needs. Students receive contextualized, integrated academic support to pass gateway courses.
- Helping students stay on their path: Students can easily track their own progress and receive ongoing, intrusive advising. Data systems monitor student progress. Students are provided support or redirected if they fall off track.

- Ensuring students are learning: Learning outcomes for every course and program are clear to the student and tied to a specific transfer, completion, or workforce outcome. Students are engaged in active, collaborative learning experiences. Systems are in place for the college and students to track mastery of outcomes. Students are engaged in active, collaborative learning experiences. Faculty are leading efforts to improve teaching practices.

In addition to Guided Pathways, AB705 also contributes the commitment by CCCs to simplify educational goals and facilitate the completion in a timely fashion of the Math and English transfer-requirement by “avoiding remedial courses that may delay or deter their educational progress.”

To implement the goals established by the Vision for Success, the CCC Chancellor’s office created a new CCC funding formula to support the current reform effort and to ensure that student equity continues to be a top priority for the CCC system. In response to this priority, EDC 78222(a) was put into effect through California Legislation on September 17, 2018. From this legislation has been created the Student Equity and Achievement Program (SEA) with the aim of “advancing the system wide goal to boost achievement for all students with an emphasis on eliminating achievement gaps for students.”

El Camino College has also closely reviewed the recommendations to its 2019-2022 Equity Plan provided by The California Community College Chancellor’s Office in collaboration with the Center for Urban Education (CUE) completed June 2019.

CUE Recommendations:

- Create equity activities that explicitly align the race-specific metrics to race-specific activity descriptions.
- Focus on specific racially minoritized student populations rather than on all students.
- Adopt equity-minded language, including operationalizing a definition of equity for the college.
- Work to incorporate more classroom-focused equity efforts and engage instructional faculty.
- Include equity-minded inquiry as a strategy to better understand inequities.
- Include transfer-specific equity activities.
- The area of greatest promise in this plan is the Student Equity Re-envisioned Initiative (myPATH). Though this effort seems to be focused on behavioral and social sciences, it could serve as a great model for expansion to other departments on the campus.

Student Equity Plan 2.0: New Iterations

Along with state legislation and equity initiatives, El Camino College has referenced the intentions and direction of what has been termed the Student Equity Plan 2.0. Taking into account on how the national landscape has witnessed the rise of racial oppression and tension, experienced the adverse socioeconomic and political effects of the COVID-19 pandemic, and acknowledged the need for more collaborative approach to equity, this plan sets out new iterations that California Community College equity plans must implement.

Student Equity Plan 2.0: New Iterations

- Increasing collaboration and integration among the campus community
- Keeping students at the center
- Creating opportunity to transform institutions in new ways
- Establishing a stronger alignment to the Vision for Success and the Call to Action

The result of these iterations should be an equity plan that is transformational while keeping equity at its center, that is community driven to ensure accountability and transparency, that is race-consciousness, and that can inform other college planning documents to ensure that equity is present.

ECC’s current enrollment structure has addressed a variety of challenges the institution faced over the years. For example, it has revamped the El Camino College website for an improved student experience. It has also opened the Warrior Welcome Center to support student enrollment. With regards to scheduling, it has developed a block schedule to reduce scheduling inefficiencies and increase enrollment. It has also centralized tutoring services across campus and reduced the median years to complete a program and obtain an award from 3.8 in 2017-18 to 3.0 in 2020-21. Finally, it has implemented a degree audit process to automate graduation analysis. In addition, ECC has created the South Bay Promise, “an initiative by which El Camino College commits to help students transition from high school to college by providing financial, educational, and social support to students enrolling at the College directly after high school.” However, navigating the matriculation process is challenging for many students, but disproportionately for first-generation, low-income students across disproportionately impacted race groups. There are many challenges students face from basic needs, access to technology and wifi, cooperation of parents or guardians to support FAFSA/CADAA completion, time to understand and complete multiple steps such as orientation, assessment survey, educational planning and registration interdependently. Outreach and recruitment to black/African American students and communities is another area that needs to be strengthened.

In an ideal structure, to ensure successful enrollment at ECC, attention also needs to be placed on redesigning and improving enrollment management so that it embraces and applies race-specific strategies to ensure the successful enrollment and educational needs of historically minoritized students. Particular attention needs to be focused on Black/African American students who face some of the highest equity gaps in this metric. To accomplish this, financial, instructional, technical, and human resources need to be committed to ensuring successful enrollment and onboarding achieve the reduction of equity gap of Black/African American students in this metric. This refocus would be informed by both feedback provided by students (qualitative) as well as quantitative data. In addition, the campus community should be engaged in relevant diversity, equity, inclusion, anti-racism training to ensure that all aspects of enrollment management is approached in the most equity focused way possible. Guided Pathways also need to be an important part of equitable enrollment management, particularly with the onboarding component. In addition, to effectively close the equity gaps for Black/African American students at El Camino College, we need to address the support services and intrusive, intentional support for students who are not part of special programs. Among Black/African American students enrolled in Fall 2022, 27% (n=737) are in a cohort program while 73% (n=1976) students are not in a special program. This percentage is highest among the known race categories. Although the college's Student Support Services may proactively address engaging more Black/African American students in special programs, due to eligibility requirements such as full-time attendance, enrollment in specific learning communities or courses, pursuing specific majors, etc.; students may opt to not engage in these programs. As such, counseling has reorganized to provide services by meta major to better address and narrow these equity gaps and with ultimate aim of increasing access and enrollment to college, supporting students in English and Math the first year, and proactively supporting retention and progress to degree.

- Have Counseling, Outreach and School Relations and Warrior Welcome Center partnership to proactively outreach to Black/African American students who have applied but not followed up on steps to enrollment.
- Ensure that First Semester Plans provide key information and guidance to streamline the process to registration. Students are made aware of support services and special programs.
- Ensure that call center lists are filtered to prioritize Black/African American students informing them of and registering students in onboarding events that include orientation, career exploration, assessment survey, educational plans or course recommendations, and registration assistance. Further, financial aid process and guidance is provided.

- Narrow the gap between African American/Black students who belong to a cohort and have comprehensive education plans with students who do not belong to a cohort.
- Identify and follow-up with Black/African American students who started but did not complete CCCAPPLY
- Communicate pathways and meta majors to high school partners and students targeting high schools with a high Black/African American enrollment.
- Evaluate and improve the onboarding process by continuing to survey Black/African American students about their application and enrollment experience.
- Increase outreach workshops with a special focus on high schools with a higher percentage African-American/Black students.
- Increase the number of Black/African American students who receive a comprehensive education plan.
- Within the South Bay Promise, emphasis should be placed on improving Black/African American and Latino student outcomes
- Priority must be given to placing African American/Black students in an appropriate support program, as these students are under-represented in the support cohorts and show lower outcomes among students participating in South Bay Promise.
- Ensure there is adequate staff and processes to outreach to students missing key steps, and provide specifically scheduled opportunities to complete steps to enrollment with special attention to African American/Black students.
- Continue to grow dual enrollment opportunities with a special focus on high schools with a higher percentage African-American/Black student enrollment.
- Develop an equity-minded/race specific student retention program to help faculty increase student retention and course completion.
- Develop training opportunities for equity-minded online education, and provide learning opportunities in equity-minded cognitive frameworks for student Services staff and faculty.
- Expand and elevate the visibility of existing, effective strategies and programs, such as Project Success-Umoja, EOPS, and Guardian Scholars.

- From the California Community Colleges Chancellor's Office, funding that can be applied to this metric to ensure Black/African American student success.
- From the California Community Colleges Chancellor's Office, facilitate inter campus communities of practice for collaboration and exchange of ideas.
- Improve CCCAPPLY data integration with SIS to capture information for timely follow through. For example, students indicate program information needed, race data, etc. However, the college does not have tools in place to effectively access, share or take action on this data. Information in a secure dashboard with filters to take action and follow up with students would be helpful.
- To decrease the successful enrollment equity gap emphasis must be placed on ensuring collaboration between campus areas, Information Technology Services, and Institutional Research.
- ECC needs to support ITS by ensuring available technologies are maximized or are invested in to support students.

In Fall 2019, AB705 was required to be fully implemented by state law. “Under AB705, students must be assessed by using multiple measures and complete transfer-level English and math within one year. At El Camino College, multiple measures include high school GPA and coursework (math only) as the primary determining factors for placement. “ Incoming degree-seeking students are encouraged by ECC’s counseling department to enroll into relevant Math and English courses in their first year. The Guided Pathway program maps and the Program Mapper accessible to students also indicate that English and Math should be completed within the first year of attendance at ECC. Currently, ECC transfer level gateway English and Math courses that are designated as receiving additional support in which, students review core skills and topics necessary to complete their courses successfully. The ECC Writing Center is an additional resource available to students and it embeds tutors in every English 1AS: Reading and Composition course. Even with these efforts, the disaggregated data shows that African American/Black students are experiencing some the highest equity gaps for this metric. Although AB705 addressed the assessment and placement inequities across disproportionately impacted populations, supporting students to completion and more so successful completion of both of these discipline areas require additional structural and mindset adjustments.

In an ideal structure there needs to be a more concerted effort to support Math and English faculty and Black/African American students enrolled in relevant transfer level English and Math courses. Along with race-specific regular equity-minded and culturally responsive training, course content and course outline of records also specifically reflect the representation of Black/African American culture. Along with this, additional support needs to be embedded for Black/African American students in these courses. Fortunately, the counseling division has already headed some of these practices. The counseling division has partnered with both the Mathematical Sciences and Humanities divisions for instructional and counseling faculty to have open discourse and work collaboratively in supporting students in transfer level courses.

With Humanities, the counseling division has established a Counseling Partnership where a counselor, success coach, embedded tutor and instructor partner for all English 1A with support classes that are not part of a special program. This community care model was established to ensure:

- Students feel connected, cared, nurtured, and supported.
- Students are aware of campus and community resources and supports to benefit their learning, life and success.
- Students develop or improve student skills to support them across the curriculum.

Counselors and success coaches have access to tools to filter the class roster by attributes, and Black/African American students are among the specific criteria for high touch services. Counseling and Math faculty have semesterly meetings facilitated by the respective division deans and a shared TEAMS site to continue to communicate and support structural changes. The divisions are exploring an embedded support model for Math Academy.

The English Department, through English 1AS, supports students as they work through introductory English, many of whom are attempting the course in their first year. It features specially trained and supported professors who understand the pedagogy needed in high support/high rigor courses. These professors are members of a CoP that discusses the challenges of the course, spreads best practice, and accentuates the need to practice culturally responsive teaching. The 1AS professors regularly meet with embedded counselors, are highly encouraged to regularly use ECCconnect, and share their Canvas with embedded counselors and success coaches. This collaboration aims to provide students, particularly those in need, with extra attention and support. The program leads to a demystification of how to graduate and transfer, increased retention, and more students having an educational plan. Many faculty report that this program is a powerful tool—students are often intimidated by counselors and afraid to seek out help. This program simplifies that process. Finally, the 1AS professors are also encouraged to go to bimonthly tutor round table discussions so that the relationship between the embedded tutor and professor is as effective as possible. Having a tutor embedded into each 1A helps ease students into the rigors of college writing.

The Mathematics Department has also actively been involved in addressing the equity gaps its transferable courses experience. Many studies show that students of color (including Black/African American students) do not feel as welcomed and do not feel supported in BSTEM courses and programs. The prevalent cultures in BSTEM programs use entry courses to weed out so-called “nonserious or underprepared” students. Too often, students of color and students who have not had opportunities before college, including some Black/African American students, are among those deemed unready and therefore unworthy of pursuing a BSTEM career. Assessment and grading practices that focus more on sorting students, reward privilege and compliance, and punish lack of resources have traditionally driven many students away from BSTEM majors. Our CoP addresses these and other impediments to equity in BSTEM, at least in the entry-level courses and ideally throughout our BSTEM programs. The Math Department has also been proactively creating a community of practice of faculty teaching our SLAM general education courses (Math 120/150). Members of the CoP are committed to creating courses that welcome Black/African American students into these courses. Members of the CoP would commit to maximizing the number African American students who complete their transfer-level mathematics course in the first year.

Action Steps

- Consider additional student support for transfer-level courses, especially due to the large number of new students in these courses.
- Target outreach efforts to students who do not pass English and math courses to encourage repeat enrollment and guide them to resources to ensure course success.
- Data to analyze the performance of Black/African American students enrolled in English 1A versus English 1A with 1AS support class. This may help inform if supports are needed with students in English 1A as well.
- Noting the gap of English versus Math completion in the first year, assessment and planning for structural changes in math and what appropriate supports may be advised.
- Need to analyze data on major and career confidence to see if it is adversely impacting enrollment in math.
- Faculty could attend more trainings, incoming faculty could be given out-of-house education on teaching this course, and CoP projects could be supported with stipends as was done through SITE after AB705.
- Trainings would also be beneficial for counselors and success coaches so that they are well prepared to interact in class; moreover, there is sometimes not enough coverage to ensure that each class has a full team. SEA funds could help mitigate that problem.
- There is a need to hire, train, and retain talented tutors. More funds are needed so these tutors can host office hours, attend student functions, and work not only with faculty but also with the success teams.
- A program will be developed that encourages faculty to visit one another's classrooms and learn through peer modeling and mentoring of strategies that improve Black student success.

- Researching withdrawals would be a high-impact way to learn more about why students are not completing 1A. We already have a questionnaire, but more information is needed, especially on the factors that lead to Black student withdrawals and failure.
- Hire more tutors to increase support across the college for Black students who want and need writing support.
- Ensure that all tutors are trained in Anti-racist, equity-minded practices that support Black student success.
- Prioritize the hiring and training of tutors who are representative of our ECC student body so that students feel welcome at the writing center and have the option of being helped by someone who looks like them.
- Embed writing tutors in every section of 1AS student has regular access to an embedded writing tutor.
- Expand the capacity of the writing center so that they have the ability to work with every English 1A/1AS student each semester.
- Conduct equity audits of course syllabi; course content, pedagogy and assessment design; and course policies.
- Come to consensus of on which course elements to redesign through equity lenses and use, as a team, for the semester.
- Work with partners on campus (Umoja/Project Success and the Black Student Success Center), build on and expand the African American students' ability to advocate for themselves as a community through supporting and honoring student-led learning/social support communities.
- Gather qualitative data from Black/African American students through their own voices.
- Disseminate useful qualitative data and successful practices to the division as a whole and to faculty teaching subsequent BSTEM courses.
- Expand and elevate the visibility of existing, effective strategies and programs, such as Project Success-Umoja, EOPS, and Guardian Scholars.

A recent campus student climate survey recorded that 46% of Black/African American student respondents “indicated being aware of discrimination or harassment at El Camino . . . despite being in a mostly remote environment during Spring 2021.” There are several friction points Black/African American students experience at El Camino College that can impact this metric. El Camino College needs to more effectively identify the barriers Black/African American students may be experiencing that is adversely impacting accessibility to campus financial and support services. In addition, El Camino College needs to develop a more systematic way to identify the barriers and challenges Black/African American students face that is impeding them from completing their course work and affecting retention. Since financial aid is a major barrier for persistence, ECC needs to more effectively deliver information to Black/African American students of the different programs and resources available on campus that can help them stay in college. Also, ECC needs to negate any feeling of isolation Black/African American students experience on campus or a sense of not belonging as exemplified by the climate survey. Also, ECC needs to more effectively ensure that Black/African American students receive career education and transfer education so that their career opportunities are visualized. Finally, support programs such as Project Success/Umoja and EOPS along with others on campus need to be further supported. Equally important, ECC needs to implement a cultural competency review that will assess the course outlines of record to ensure that they are sensitive to the experiences of Black/African American students, as well as provide significant contributions from diverse backgrounds and inclusive context that are representative of the full scope of a discipline or field.

In an ideal state, curriculum course outlines of record will be reviewed for equity-minded cultural competency to ensure that courses have the proper fidelity of ensuring race consciousness. With the adjustments in courses comes a need for an investment of resources in pedagogical training that assures the faculty can effectively facilitate these courses. Implementation of an equity-minded cultural competency review will help facilitate a shift in the culture to equitable outcomes for this population through ensuring that the curriculum not only is sensitive to underrepresented groups, but is also adaptable to the evolution of dynamic disciplines. Faculty are the essence of the college, and their performance/practices are among the biggest factors in whether students succeed. By training faculty to be Anti-Racist equity-minded practitioners, El Camino College will provide the supportive, nurturing environment students need to succeed in achieving their educational and career goals. Through the implementation and institutionalization of EMTI ECC will gain faculty who are well versed in equity-minded theory and practice and who have adjusted significant portions of their courses to be more equitable. This, in turn, will lead to the closing or elimination of equity gaps between Black students and other student populations. Direct access to dashboards or metrics with current student data, or lack thereof, factor into the effectiveness with retention efforts. Piecemealed data is available such as early alert flags or referrals, or reports indicating when a student has dropped a course. However, this information needs to be centralized and accessible to effectively and timely intervene. From a Guided Pathways perspective, an educational plan is key in supporting a student's path to continue. Currently, the rates of ed plans and more so Comprehensive Student Educational Plans (CSEP) are higher among Black/African American cohorted student populations. Parity must be achieved with non-cohorted Black/African American students. A baseline also is needed to see if professional development opportunities in equity and antiracism training are in fact being transferred and integrated into practices on campus. Adjustments and designs to existing student services and financial aid need to be done so taking into consideration the barriers faced by Black/African American students. Given the high number of students that indicated personal reasons for withdrawal from courses, ECC would focus on expanding mental health services and basic needs services. Finally, ECC areas, divisions, and departments need to be systematically informed about the barriers Black/African American students experience and find ways to ensure that they can complete their academic obligations while considering the implications of their external/personal obligations. Ideally, Black/African American students need to be supported by ECC inside and outside of the classroom. To do so, the college must conduct self-assessments of how effectively it does so to ensure it is responsive to the needs of Black/African American students enrolled.

- El Camino College will be implementing a cultural competency review that will assess the course outlines of record to ensure that they are sensitive to the experiences of underrepresented groups, as well as provide significant contributions from diverse backgrounds and inclusive context that are representative of the full scope of a discipline or field.
- Counselors and success coaches will be embedded in transferable English courses with support sections.
- First Semester Plans (FSPs) with incoming students providing connection to a counselor or student services personnel and guidance with course selection.
- ECC Connect should be mandatory since active early alert utilization by instructors and student services has demonstrated to increase retention.
- Within Meta Majors, which filter for students who are not in a cohort, increase intentional efforts are made to serve Black/African American students through outreaching to Black/African American students who do not have an educational plan and prioritize this group for counselor appointments. Also target direct outreach efforts in gateway courses where further advancement gaps in this population are noted. e.g.
- Create/increase specific transfer workshops for first time students where transfer and retention gaps exist by meta major; and outreach to first year students where the retention is lower than returning or continuing students.

- Create an integrated system or dashboard to conduct race-specific data analysis that are real time rather than based on trends from two plus years ago.
- Exacerbated by the pandemic and hybrid offerings, continue disaggregated research on students' behaviors and needs for course enrollment and our systems ability to address them.
- Increase Black/African American culturally-affirming, equity-driven activities designed to increase student retention and affirm all students as valuable and valued scholars such as the annual Slam Poetry contest, scholarship writing workshops, college application essay writing workshops, the publication of the student-run Myriad, which is a collection of poetry, short stories, art and photography, and the publication of both the campus magazine and newspaper which features student work, highlights student success, and addresses student interest and needs.
- Require faculty to participate the Equity Minded Teaching Institute (EMTI) to ensure that they become Anti-Racist, equity-minded practitioners and have the skills, and tools to cultivate this culture in their classrooms.
- Connect EMTI participants with resources to help students such as faculty communities of practice, Project Success/MyPath and other cohort programs with embedded support, and SI coaching and other peer mentor programs.
- Surround faculty who are new to equity work with a support system that will mentor/advise them on high impact practices to support student success.
- Mentor faculty in revising course curriculum and materials to center the voices of traditionally marginalized populations so that all students can see themselves and their experiences reflected in the curricular and pedagogical techniques/materials.
- Guided Pathways success teams, with an increased focus of the specific barriers Black/African American students experience, will continue to improve outcomes for students in fall-to-spring retention, increase the number of units students complete per year, increase the number of students completing college-level math and English in their first year, and decrease the number of excess units students accumulate while earning their degree or certificate.
- Continue to have as many faculty as possible transition and designate their classes as Zero Textbook and Open Educational Resources.

Black/African American students face a variety of barriers on campus and off-campus that can impede their desire and ability to complete the necessary course sequences needed to achieve an ECC certificate or degree. Schedule of class offerings, the modality in which required courses are offered, course sequencing, and a lack of certificate/degree information all can contribute to inability for students to balance their academic life with their personal life. In addition, teaching practices may still be lagging when it comes to equity-minded instruction and curricular design since there is no required training such as the one provided by the Equity Minded Teaching Institute. ECC Connect, success-oriented tool used to facilitate communication and support for student on campus is not used by all faculty members. It is also an exceptional tool to bring together and network teaching faculty with student services faculty. All these factor impact whether a student can earn an A.A., A.S., ADT within three years

Structural Evaluation: Ideal State

In an ideal structure ECC would foster more coordination between teaching faculty, Academic Counseling, Student Services to ensure a collective effort is made to address the barriers Black/African American students face in ECC degree/certificate completion. Additionally, traditionally held course scheduling would be regularly reviewed to ensure that times and modalities are tuned with the academic aspirations and personal obligations of Black/African American students. In instruction, course sequences would be regularly analyzed and course materials and curriculum be put through and equity audit to ensure equitable instruction is taking place and creating a greater sense of belonging. To facilitate data collection, in an ideal structure the college would have software implemented that can communicate with each other for better tracking purposes. The collaboration between Academic Counseling, English, and Math has set one example of how collaboration and coordination can be established within different areas. Equally important are the Guided Pathways Success Teams who are tackling a series of challenges and barriers our students are facing as ECC implements Guided Pathways and the Vision for Success.

Structural Evaluation: Current State

- ✓ Student Services
- ✓ Business Services
- ✓ Other

The transfer process from a California community college to a four-year institution has been historically difficult for students to navigate. Along with fulfilling specific course work based on the institution a student is transferring to, additional requirements guidelines may need to be followed to ensure transfer success. In addition to this, students must also contend with challenges associated with attending a community college before moving on to their target institution. Many of these have already been highlighted in the previous metrics. While ECC has programs and support services that aid students navigate the transfer process, such as Project Success-Umoja and Guardian Scholars, the reality is that a majority of Black/African American students do not belong to a cohort that can offer transfer guidance.

Structural Evaluation: Ideal State

- ✓ Instruction
- ✓ Student Services
- ✓ Business Services
- ✓ Other

In an ideal structure Black/African American students who do not belong to a cohort should have the same accessibility to guidance that those that are part of one do. This would require that programs such as First Year Experience, EOPS, and Project-Success/Umoja, be consulted to learn about their design and activities that ensure successful transferability. The counseling department, already working towards addressing the need, has been examining data and taking specific action to address equity gaps and align services to DI populations based on the SEA plan. To best allocate resources and create cohesive efforts to provide intentional support to specific populations, general counseling was restructured to serve students by meta major. This change allows for the Counseling department to collaborate with meta-major success teams to holistically meet the needs of students. The focus of the meta-major Counseling teams is to specifically reach out to student populations that are identified in the SEA plan and are not part of a cohort program. These teams aim to provide students who are not in a cohort program with a high level of support and access to support programs and services. These teams include meta-major counselors, SSP (probation and financial aid counselors), Equity and Retention advisors, and success coaches. Further, we have counselors with specialized knowledge and expertise in career counseling to support team members within these teams as well as liaise with the Career Center. These success teams are designed to unite counselors, instructional faculty, and student services programs to create a support network designated to work with students in the assigned meta-major. These teams work collaboratively to provide intentional support and ensure we are allocating our resources most effectively to serve and outreach to disproportionately impacted populations. In addition the gains made by counseling, faculty would explore how to integrate Guided Pathways principles in the classroom by coordinating with counseling faculty, library faculty, and academic support (tutoring, SLI, PASS Mentorship) to collaborate in ensuring equitable educational outcomes and successful progression towards transfer. Combine with equitable instructional practices, this collaborative learning environment would procure for all non-cohort Black/African American students the opportunity to be exposed to the benefits of the cohort experience. The Program Review process has incorporated is contributing greatly to facilitate department reflection and dialog about equitable teaching practices. In the curriculum review section of the template, faculty are asked to examine the program curriculum using an equity lens. More specifically, faculty are asked if they prepare students to actively engage in a diverse society, if multicultural content is included, how they respond to diverse students' learning needs, if they use critical/equity-oriented pedagogy, and if they ensure that an empowering classroom environment is being created. By demystifying the transfer process, providing students with regular access to academic counseling, ensuring that academic support is accessible, and exposing student to race-specific equitable instruction and curriculum, avenues for transfer success are opened. The Transfer Center has been proactively engaged in addressing equity gaps for this metric. The Transfer Center, for example, has reached out and has committed to work collaboratively with the Black Student Success Center coordinator, Keiana Daniel to co-coordinate and co-offer culturally- centered workshops, activities and events with the purpose of fostering Black student transfer success. In addition, The Counseling division has supported the creation of an intentional Transfer Center Outreach Plan. This plan targets equity student groups not part of a Student Support Program to connect them to Transfer Services (counseling, advising, workshops), ensure their transfer readiness and support them throughout the application transfer process.

Administrative Procedure 5070 - - - Attendance Accounting

Pursuant to California Education Code section 84040, Title 5 section 58000 et seq., the Department of Finance, the Auditor General, and the California Community College Chancellor's Office, documentation requirements are maintained to promote standardized, accurate reporting of data used for calculating the state general fund apportionment and to facilitate annual audits required of the District.

Attendance accounting requirements include the following:

1. Computation of units of full-time equivalent student (FTES) based on the type of course, the way the course is scheduled, and the length of the course
2. Selection of a single primary term length for credit courses.
3. Reporting of FTES during the "first period" (between July 1 and December 31), "second period" (between July 1 and April 15), and an "annual" report (between July 1 and June 30).
4. Compliance with census procedures prescribed by the California Community College Chancellor's Office for all courses, including work experience, independent study, and credit courses being reported on an actual attendance basis.
5. Preparation of census day procedure tabulations.
6. Preparation of actual student contact hours of attendance (commonly referred to as positive attendance) procedure tabulations.
7. Preparation (as applicable) of actual apprentice hours of teaching procedure tabulations.
8. Preparation of support documentation regarding all course enrollment, attendance, and disenrollment information.
9. Computation of FTES that includes only the attendance of students while they are engaged in educational activities required of students and while they are under the immediate supervision and control of an academic employee of the District authorized to render service in the capacity and during the period in which he or she served.
10. Maintenance of the college in the District for at least 175 days during the fiscal year.

Student Enrollment, Attendance, Withdrawal, and Drop

To document and verify information submitted to the State Chancellor's Office, the Admissions and Records Office shall process and maintain records of student registration, class enrollment, attendance, withdrawals, drops, and grades. Documents and records that support apportionment claims shall be maintained by the Office of the Vice President, Academic Affairs, the Admissions and Records Office and the Office of Information Technology Services. ~~At the end of each semester instructors shall submit attendance rosters to the Admissions and Records office.~~

1. Last Day of Attendance - Instructors shall maintain a system to determine last date of attendance . After census day, only students who are enrolled in the course or have completed the proper auditing procedure may attend.
2. Waiting List – If students on the waitlist ~~are present for the first class period of the term~~ and a seat becomes available students must be added in the order in which they appear on the waiting list before any students who do not appear on the waiting list. For fully online courses students on the waitlist must be ~~given preference~~ if they contact the instructor by the end of ~~the~~ day on the first Tuesday of instruction.
3. ~~Instructor Adds- If a student contacts the instructor wishing to add a course, instructors are required to add students up to the course cap through the end of the day on the first Friday of instruction for 12, 14, and 16 week courses, through the first 72 hours of the term for 8 week courses, and through the first 48 hours of the term for 5 and 6 week courses. Instructors may, at their discretion, add additional students after these timelines until the add deadline for the term.~~
4. Student Adds – If space is available, students who have completed the college application may add a class by securing an add code. It is the responsibility of the student to fulfill all requirements to add a course and to add the course online by the add deadline in accordance with college procedures. Adds will not be processed beyond the add deadline, except for documented extenuating and mitigating circumstances.
5. Reinstatements - Instructors may reinstate students who were previously enrolled and dropped, but continue to attend, or in the case of fully asynchronous online courses if the student contacts the instructor before census.
6. No Show Reports - Students who enroll in a class but do not attend the first scheduled class meeting may be dropped from the roster and their places given to waiting list students. For fully asynchronous online distance education classes, students who do not engage in the first required interaction of the academic term by the instructor’s deadline or within the first 5 days of the term if no other deadline is provided may be dropped from the roster and their places given to waiting list students. A required interaction in a distance education course is any nonoptional activity (e.g., discussion forum post, assignment submission, quiz, etc.) administered through the Learning Management System (LMS). For hybrid classes, students may be dropped from the roster and their places given to waiting list students if they do not attend the first live class meeting or if they do not engage in the first required interaction if the deadline for that interaction is prior to the first class meeting. If illness or emergency prevents a student from attending the first class session or completing the first required interaction, the student must contact the instructor. ~~Instructors must submit the No Show Report online by the deadline. The No Show Report may not be processed prior to the start of the class section and it may be filed only once. If an instructor failed to drop a student who did not show in the No Show Report, the instructor must drop the student on the Active Enrollment report.~~

7. Active Enrollment Report - The Active Enrollment Report is an audit document that is used for determining federal and state funding. It must reflect the enrollment of the class as of census. In preparation for submitting the report, Instructors must review their rosters to verify that students who were given permission to add appear on the roster and that all enrolled students have attended class or, for online courses, have engaged in required interactions. Students who failed to officially enroll are asked to leave the class. In the Active Enrollment Report, Instructors shall drop students who are no longer participating in the course ~~as of and note~~ the last date of attendance. Instructors are required to submit the Active Enrollment report online by the deadline.
8. Withdrawal by Instructor - After the Active Enrollment Report deadline, Instructors may use the active enrollment link online to drop a student anytime during the term up until the deadline to drop with a W. Instructors may withdraw students from on campus and Live Online classes whose absences exceed 10% of the scheduled class meeting. Likewise for fully online distance education classes, instructors may withdraw students who do not continue to complete required regular substantive interactions by the assigned due dates specified in the syllabus. Substantive interactions include (but are not limited to) submission of an academic assignment, submission of an exam, participation in tutorials or computer-assisted instruction, and discussion forum or study group participation. Students cannot be dropped for lack of consecutive log-ins alone. Instructors must clearly state their attendance and withdrawal policies in the syllabus (which must be visibly posted on the course site), and instructors must document the student's work up until the point of withdrawing the student. For hybrid and Live Online courses with reduced class meetings, instructors may withdraw students whose combined live meeting absences and required interactions planned in lieu of attendance exceed 10% of the total instructional hours. A student may also be withdrawn as a result of disciplinary action taken pursuant to law or to the student code of conduct.

9. Withdrawal by Student - The Admissions and Records Office and the Office of Information Technology shall provide students with the ability to withdraw prior to the deadline to withdraw with a W and the Admissions and Records Office shall have a process for students to petition to withdraw after the deadline for documented extenuating circumstances. It is the responsibility of the student to officially drop a class by the deadline date. If a student fails to drop by the deadline, the student may be subject to a substandard grade or a withdrawal "W" and incur all relevant fees.

3.1 Military Equipment Policy AB 706 and Draft Resolution - SECOND READING

The Resolution in response to AB 706 Military Equipment was brought back to College Council for a second reading. There was no constituent feedback.

College Council moved to recommend the Superintendent/President, present the Resolution, as written, to the Board of Trustees.

It is recommended, the Police Department Policy 706, be converted to a Board Policy and brought back to College Council for consultation. Chief will provide the verbiage from the legislation. Rose will reach out to Mr. Jonathon Mott from Parker Covert and confirm we are on the right track with creating a Board policy.

3.2 AP 3505 Emergency Response Plan - FIRST READING

Chief of Campus Police, Michael Trevis, presented an overview of the procedure for a first reading. The College already has a policy in place. The language in the procedure is based on the Community College League of California's (CCLC) template. Additional verbiage was added to include evening personnel/students and active shooter/armed intruder protocols.

The advisory committee responsible for drafting the AP included Greg Toya, Philip Mariano (ITECH), POA and faculty representatives. It is recommended the BP accompany the new AP when presenting to the constituent groups, for context. Constituent feedback should be sent directly to Chief Trevis and copy Nina Wong.

AP 3505 Emergency Response Plan, will go out to the constituent groups for feedback and will come back to College Council for a second reading.

3.3 AP 3515 Reporting of Crimes - FIRST READING

Chief of Campus Police, Michael Trevis, presented an overview of the procedure for a first reading. The College already has a policy in place. The language in the procedure is based on the Community College League of California's (CCLC) template.

AP 3515 Reporting of Crimes, will go out to the constituent groups for feedback and will come back to College Council for a second reading.

4.1 Equity Plan

Nayeli Oliva, Director of Student Equity & Achievement (SEA), provided a preview of the Equity Plan presentation that will be given to the Board of Trustees at the November 21, 2022 meeting.

It is noted, the data information on the Completion of Black/African American Students, needs to be delivered with a lot of diplomacy. Clarification is made, the data is compiled from specific information identified by the Chancellor's Office. This group is a three-year cohort of credit, first time students. Commentary/language is needed to frame this information better. A request for data reflecting the actual population of students is requested. This request is feasible. Institutional Research & Planning (IRP) will make this information available on a dashboard.

Clarification is made, the recommendations from USC's Center for Urban Education (CUE), is from the SEA plan submitted last year. These recommendations may need to be framed differently. A title change for slide 12 is strongly recommended. Activity Descriptions for Instructional Faculty Engagement is suggested. Other edits and typo corrections are suggested. It is noted, Academic Senate was not approached to engage in the writing of the Equity Plan. As a body who has been doing a lot of work around equity, it may have been valuable to get their input. It is noted, there are several groups doing equity work on campus that should collaborate and communicate to maximize resources.

College Council is asked to support, focusing on the African American/Black population, for this report, and to support the SEA Goals identified for this population. (Goals are on slide 17). It is reiterated, SEA Goals mirror the recommendations from CUE.

A request to consult with Academic Senate and/or the Curriculum committee when drafting future reports and goals was made. It is noted, faculty did have representation on the Student Equity Advisory Committee (SEAC).

The Equity Plan (the document), will go out to constituent groups for feedback and will come back to College Council for a second reading. Clarity was provided, the Chancellor's Office request, is to develop a plan to respond to an identified list of activities to target an identified disproportionately impacted population.

It is suggested the Table of Contents is linked to the correct page. Currently it is not accurate.

Absent: L. Young

Guests: L. Linka

1. APPROVAL OF MINUTES

The minutes of September 13, 2022 were approved via email by the CCC on September 20, 2022.

2. CHAIR'S REPORT: College Curriculum Committee Chair – E. Ambrosio

Chair Ambrosio thanked the CCC for approving the minutes of September 13, 2022 via email. He noted that there was no curriculum to review today but to expect curriculum review at the next meeting on October 11.

3. CURRICULUM TRAINING: SLO Training/Cultural Competency Review/Brown Act

Chair Ambrosio provided a review of the SLO process for reporting curriculum changes to the campus SLO coordinators. He shared onscreen a "Quick Guide" and noted what forms need to be filled out and when. Courses must be CCC approved and appear in the CCC minutes prior to submission to the SLO Coordinators and forms should be submitted at the end of each semester. SLO forms can be found on the CCC website under Forms and Resources. The SLO coordinators are Kevin Degnan (kdegnan@elcamino.edu) and Catherine Schult-Roman (cschult@elcamino.edu). A copy of the SLO quick guide will be sent out after the meeting.

Chair Ambrosio provided an introductory presentation on Cultural Competency Review. He indicated that further discussion will need to take place on the subject at a future meeting to discuss how to implement the process when doing course outline review.

Chair Ambrosio gave a review of the Brown Act and how it applies to the CCC. During the COVID-19 pandemic, AB 361 passed in 2021 which allowed remote meetings during a declared state of emergency. On September 13, 2022, AB 2449 passed which states that at least a quorum of the members (50% + 1) must participate in person from a singular physical location and members may only teleconference under approved circumstances and for a limited number of meetings. Chair Ambrosio reported that the Board of Trustees has decided to rescind the local state of emergency and is looking to return to face-to-face meetings only. As the CCC is an appointed body of the Academic Senate, the CCC must comply with the mode of the Brown Act in order to stay in compliance. A discussion ensued and many questions arose. Chair Ambrosio will clarify with the Academic Senate at their next meeting and report back as to when the CCC voting members must appear in person.

4. CURRICULUM SPECIALIST’S REPORT: Curriculum Specialist – L. Marquez
No report.

5. VICE PRESIDENT’S REPORT: Vice President of Academic Affairs – C. Lopez
No report.

6. ANNOUNCEMENTS

Fall 2022 Meetings: September 13 & 27, October 11 November 8

Spring 2023 Meetings: February 14, March 14, April 25, May 23 (if needed)

AGENDA

1. Discussion on FDC purpose, meeting frequency, and modality

AB reviewed the purpose of the FDC: Faculty are the only employee group on campus that is obligated to do Flex hours and attend flex day. Flex is within Academic Senate's 10+1 purview and delegates jurisdiction to the FDC therefore FDC members are representatives for the faculty body. FDC ensures faculty is represented in matters regarding flex through our committee. With this purpose in mind, the FDC voted unanimously to reduce meetings to one meeting per month during the academic term and decided on the dates for the remainder of the year:

Fall 2022 Meetings: September 13 & 27, October 11 November 8

Spring 2023 Meetings: February 14, March 14, April 25, May 23 (if needed)

In order to be compliant with the Brown Act, FDC meetings will need to be held in person. It may be possible to allow some members to teleconference as long as we have quorum in person. The chair will review teleconference requests in advance, based on need. At this time, only two members will need to request teleconference this semester. AB will work on creating a better hyflex set up for future meetings.

Changes/updates to membership: Rose Anna Cerofeci will step off FDC due to the dissolution of SITE. Taryn Bailey will be removed since she is currently on leave. Analu Josephides will officially join the FDC.

a. Taskforce ideas (max 6 ppl, meet as needed):

Although FDC meetings will be reduced, FDC will create project-specific task forces for the following FDC projects: I&I, PD day planning, Getting the Job, Syllabus Statements, Communities of Practice, Needs assessments. These task forces should be less than the majority of the FDC membership. AB will work on creating a sign-up sheet for each task force and special channels on the FDC team site. Task forces can work in between FDC meetings as needed and can collaborate via Teams and virtual meetings.

2. Preferred communication modality

FDC members agreed on one preferred communication modality: Teams site. This modality is preferred over email as emails can get overwhelming and hard to organize. AJ suggested the chair to send one email to announce this preferred modality to the FDC and outline Team site usage etiquette such as using the tagging feature when posting messages and turning on notifications if it is not already turned on.

3. Communities of Practice- set first meeting date

Discussion tabled as AM was not present.

4. Spring 2023 PD planning-faculty representation

AB shared that the first meeting of the Spring PD day planning meeting only had two faculty out of five people present. Although more faculty signed up to participate in the committee, they did not make it to the first meeting. Since faculty are the only employee group required to attend Flex day, more faculty representation is needed in the planning. AB asked FDC for ideas and input to bring to the next PD day planning meeting and to attend if possible. EB suggested Oct 25th, 1:15-2:15 to be the next meeting date as it may be possible for some FDC member to attend.

SA offered a suggestion to allow for leaving contact info in the PD day evaluation survey to elicit faculty involvement in PD planning for next time. Also, we could look at PD evaluations from Fall to see if there are any emergent themes that could be used as ideas for Spring PD themes. CM mentioned that there was not any feedback that could really be extracted regarding a theme from the qualitative data. EB suggested FDC members survey their divisions for any ideas or themes for PD day. CM suggested we try to come up with a few ideas first as a smaller group and then ask our colleagues for their top choice among a few choices rather than leave it open-ended.

Some ideas for Flex day were discussed:

- Need for allowing more interaction and connection among attendees. Faculty want to share their common struggles and help each other. For example, how to encourage students to take notes, meeting students where they are at, socio-emotional learning, etc. Perhaps setting up round-tables, moderated fire-side chats, brown-bags, faculty panels breakout sessions to encourage connection and engagement.

5. Getting the Job workshop

- a. Proposed date: Friday, Dec 9th: 12:30-2pm
- b. Ideas for panelists?

Discussion tabled

6. Announcements and Reminders:

- a. Informed & Inspired: Thursdays at 1:15-3:00pm: October 13, November 10, December 1
- b. College Book Club -Fridays at 11am: October 14, November 4, December 9
