Academic Senate Meeting

11/7/2023

Reminders

- Comments/questions not directly related to current agenda item will not be acknowledged until public comment. Additionally, comments/questions on agenda items should contribute to the discussion in a meaningful way. Public comments will be limited to one 3-minute comment per person per meeting.

- The Academic Senate fully respects the time of all our senators and other meeting participants. With this in mind, and because of the many items within senate purview that must be addressed each semester, we ask that discussions in senate meetings, even during the public comment period, be limited to topics within/related to the 10+1 purview of the Academic Senate. If your comment is completely unrelated to senate purview (e.g., topics such as salaries/wages, and benefits), you will be kindly asked to hold your comment and advised as to a more appropriate venue to have the conversation.

QR Phishing Scam ("QPhishing/Quishing")

Stephanie Burnham

- What is a QR code again?
  - Legitimate QR code vs. a malicious one
  - Unable to tell a scammer QR code just by looking at the code itself!

QR Phishing Scam ("QPhishing") cont.

Malicious QR codes:
- appear legitimate; mimics official websites or services.
- may redirect to a phishing website, install malware, or prompt users to enter personal information.

How can you tell?
- Look for context clues!
- If in an email, check the sender; notice if there is a sense of urgency. Same for if it's in a text.
- If on a poster or flyer, check if it is a sticker/not part of the original flyer

Malicious QR Code Attack

1

Restaurant displays a QR code for customers to access their menu

2

Cybercriminal creates a malicious QR code & pastes it over the original

3

Customer scans fake QR code not realizing it's been tampered with 4

Customer enters credit card info thinking they're paying the restaurant bill

QR Phishing Scam ("QPhishing"): Other factors to consider

|
Look	• Look for malicious QR codes at shops and restaurants
Don't scan	• If it looks like the QR code was placed after the fact, don't scan it!
Ask	• Ask the employees for the specific code to scan
