

Frequently Asked Questions

Click on the + dropdown to view answers.

1. Do you give credit by exam?

No, if you plan to transfer to a college/university that requires a foreign language and you believe that you could test out of their language course, you should contact your transfer institution to find out if they provide that option.

2. Do you give placement exams?

No, we don't provide placement exams. However, if you have studied the language of interest before and you aren't sure which level is best for you, please contact the Humanities dean, Scott Kushigemachi skushigemachi@elcamino.edu.

3. Do I need to take basic levels of the foreign language if I am a native or heritage speaker?

Not necessarily. For further information, contact the Humanities Division office, humanities@elcamino.edu or a full-time faculty teaching the language.

Chinese - humanities@elcamino.edu

Japanese - Prof. Yoshida nyoshida@elcamino.edu

Italian - humanities@elcamino.edu

French - Dr. Gard agard@elcamino.edu Dr. Class aclass@elcamino.edu

German - humanities@elcamino.edu

Spanish - Dr. Andrade aandrade@elcamino.edu

Prof. Barrio De Mendoza mbarriodemendoza@elcamino.edu

Dr. Class aclass@elcamino.edu

Dr. Factor dfactor@elcamino.edu

Prof. Moina amoina@elcamino.edu

Also, the Spanish department provides classes for Native Speakers. Please contact Dr.

Andrade aandrade@elcamino.edu or Dr. Class aclass@elcamino.edu for further information on these courses.

Important:

If you need to know the content covered in a particular language taught at ECC, you can find it in the catalog: <http://catalog.elcamino.edu/> For additional information on the COR (Course Outline of Record), contact the Humanities Division office, humanities@elcamino.edu

4. Do I only need level one to fulfill my language requirement for transfer to four-year institutions?

Some colleges/universities require a foreign language to be admitted and other institutions require one language level other than English to graduate.

Be aware that elementary and intermediate language courses are 5-unit classes. If you take courses to satisfy these language requirements at ECC, they will be more affordable. Also, it might be easier for you to continue to higher levels if you have taken introductory courses recently.

If you are not sure if you need higher language levels, contact an ECC counselor to get help to make the best decision for you.

Here is the Languages, Composition, and Journalism counselor's website link:
<https://www.elcamino.edu/support/counseling/chat/languages-counselors.aspx>

Also, our full-time LCJ meta major counselors are listed here:

Maribel Hernandez mhernandez@elcamino.edu

Dr. Sabio ssabio@elcamino.edu

Rocio Diaz rodiaz@elcamino.edu

Important:

If you need to know the content covered in a particular language taught at ECC, you can find it in the catalog: <http://catalog.elcamino.edu/> For additional information on the COR (Course Outline of Record), contact the Humanities Division office, humanities@elcamino.edu

5. I know the grammar, but I cannot speak in the target language. What do you recommend I do?

Improving your oral skills might be challenging when you cannot practice the language learned. Taking a conversational course is highly recommended to improve speaking in the target language. Check the ECC class schedule to see if the language of interest offers these courses in the current semester. NOTE: FL Conversational courses are those numbered “21” or “22.”

6. Do you offer any literature or culture courses?

If you wish to further your knowledge about the culture of a particular language offered at ECC, literature and culture courses are available. You will increase your knowledge by reading engaging literature and by enriching your understanding of the countries that speak the language of interest. Check the ECC class schedule to see if these classes are offered in the current semester. NOTE: Culture courses are those numbered “24” or “25”; Literature courses are those numbered “5” or “6.”

7. Do you offer Study Abroad programs in a foreign language?

Yes, we offer a Study Abroad program in Spanish. For further inquiries on Study Abroad programs contact Dr. Andrade, aandrade@elcamino.edu.

8. Do you offer AA degrees in World Languages & Cultures (formerly Foreign Languages)?

Yes, we offer Associate in Arts degrees for French, Japanese, and Spanish.

French, AA

Japanese, AA

Spanish, AA

We offer Associate in Arts for Transfer degree in Spanish.

Spanish, AA-T

For further information on the requirements, click on the links to the ECC catalog or contact one of our Languages, Composition, and Journalism counselors by clicking the following hyperlink:

<https://www.elcamino.edu/support/counseling/chat/languages-counselors.aspx>

9. Why should I learn a foreign language besides fulfilling my requirements?

There are many reasons to learn a second language besides the amazing experience of being able to communicate with people from different cultures and countries. Many careers require proficiency in a foreign language. We also strongly encourage you to consider a double major or a minor in a foreign language and another discipline such as Nursing, Business Administration, Film, English, or Anthropology. A double major or minor will enhance your academic profile and make you a more attractive candidate for graduate study or employment.

Here a list of the common careers:

Business

Diplomacy

Education

Government

Interpreting/translating

Health

Interpreting

Social services

Tourism

Vocational fields

For further information about career opportunities for World Languages & Cultures (formerly Foreign Languages) majors, you can visit our career center to request handouts on What can I do with this major? Or visit the site by clicking the link:

<https://whatcanidowiththismajor.com/major/foreign/#bottom>

10. I am confused about how the World Languages & Cultures (formerly Foreign Languages) courses fit into my career path. Who could help me decide if I need to take WLC courses to meet my academic goals?

To get the right advice on career pathways, you can contact an ECC counselor. They are available for in-person and online drop-in academic advisement. To make an appointment, here are the Languages, Composition, and Journalism counselor's website link:

<https://www.elcamino.edu/support/counseling/chat/languages-counselors.aspx>

Also, our full-time LCJ meta major counselors are listed here:

Maribel Hernandez mhernandez@elcamino.edu

Dr. Sabio ssabio@elcamino.edu

Rocio Diaz rodiaz@elcamino.edu

11. I am a high school student interested in taking a world language & cultures class (formerly Foreign Languages). What are the procedures and requirements for Dual Enrollment?

Click on the following link to obtain complete information about Dual Enrollment procedures and requirements.

<https://www.elcamino.edu/academics/dual-enrollment/index.aspx>

Here is a summary of the process.

High school grade level requirements for World Languages & Cultures (formerly Foreign Languages) classes:

Students in 9th or 10th grade can enroll in Chinese, French, German, Italian, Japanese, and Spanish courses.

11th and 12th grade students do not require approval from a division dean to take a World Languages & Cultures (formerly Foreign Languages) class.

Application process

All dual enrollment students must complete Dual Enrollment Application. This form requires a parent/guardian signature and the signature of a high school principal or counselor.

Note: Students in 9th or 10th grade who wish to take a World Languages & Cultures (formerly Foreign Languages) course must also obtain instructor and division dean approval on their dual enrollment form.

The steps for instructor and dean approval are as follows:

1. To obtain the contact information of the professor teaching the class, contact the Humanities Division office, humanities@elcamino.edu
2. The student (not the parent) should schedule an appointment to meet with the instructor of the course to obtain their approval.
3. Instructors will notify the dean if they approve the request. At this point, the dean will sign the form and email it to the Dual Enrollment office.