General Business:

- You will get your Spring 22 schedules this week from Michele
 - The schedule is tight. Deb tried to get as close as what was requested as possible. Any questions regarding schedule, contact Deb.
 - Most classes will be fact to face with some hybrid and very few online only.
- ESL Coordinator
 - Process to find an ESL Coordinator has begun. Hope to have them start in the spring.
- Evaluations
 - There are a lot of evaluations this semester!

Library Database:

- Mary McMillan- invited instructors to the Bits & Bytes workshops series. Contact Mary if you have any questions.

Bits & Bytes
Workshop Series (Feb)

SLOs and Senate:

- Anna Mavromati – new SLO co-coordinator
 - Thank you for submitting assessments!
 - Moving forward with new version of Nuventive
 - Next semester – assessment using Canvas outcomes to collect data
 - Senate has passed a vaccine mandate. Anna will report more Senate news next time.

Curriculum:

- Matt
 - Nothing to report from CCC for ESL.
 - Hope to offer two NESL 11 courses in Spring. NESL 11 is a noncredit shell course in which Matt is contextualizing the content to help ESL students with statistics and with natural science courses.

Other:

- Amy Herrschaft, counselor – For international students, new students with new visas will have to come into the country to take classes. Spring should see more international students compared to last spring.
- Vaccine verification needs to be uploaded by November 8
